

being a flight attendant, i can honestly say this is a very bad idea. it is hard enough getting a persons attention when briefing them on the ground at emergency exits, when they are on their phones. this would be a very dangerous precedent. in the case of emergency, we need complete attention from passengers in order to SAVE THEIR LIVES! if they are dialing their cell phones, they could KILL themselves, and others. this is a horrible idea!